About the Seminar:

After liberalization of economic policy, consumer goods have flooded the market as never before. Both foreign and Indian companies are introducing new products and brands with glossy and fancy packing, but they do not pay attention to the quality of their products and also do not value customer satisfaction.

1986 is a historical year in the life of Consumer Movement as in this year Consumer Protection Act was passed. The Consumer Protection Act has completed its Silver Jubilee. But, the cases in consumer courts are increasing every year. As law is living organism, it always grows along with changing society. In last 25 years span, Consumer Protection Law has developed to large extent by judicial pronouncements and time has come to have special audit and scrutiny of its working.

Therefore, in auspicious presence of Hon'ble Shri. Bindumadhav Joshi, Pioneer of Indian Consumer Movement and a man behind passing of Consumer Protection Act, the present seminar will address the following
